Dear Mr. Collins,

I have received your letter of the 6th inst. concerning your son Pte. James J. Collins, 1st Wfd. Regiment.

I note that he is wounded and is now at the Military Hospital, London, England.

If it were possible to accede to your request to have him home on furlough of course I should be only too glad to do so. But I am sure that for the present he is being well attended to in the Hospital and you will agree with me that the Hospital is the best place for him to receive treatment for his wound.
