April 11, 1916.

Dear Sir,

It was with the very greatest regret that the Government received a telegram from the Record Office, London, intimating that your son, No. 1744, Private John Lambert, had died at Ayr on the 7th of this month.

Permit me to express to you on behalf of the Government as well as for myself my sincere sympathy in your bereavement. Whilst the loss of your son will bring sadness to your heart, yet it will be some consolation to realize that he died nobly doing his duty for his King and Country. We are proud of our young men who have come forward in such numbers at the call of duty and we esteem highly the unselfish loyalty of the fathers and mothers who so willingly give their boys in the great struggle against the evil which we are now fighting. Your gallant boy laid down his life for the defence of the principles of Righteousness, Truth and Peace. While he has laid down his earthly weapon, he has assumed the victor's crown and his name will be engraved on the glorious Roll of Honour and be held in fragrant memory by all his fellow-countrymen.

May the Great Father of all at this time give you of his comfort and peace.

With my warmest sympathy,

Believe me to be,

Your obedient servant,

Colonial Secretary.

May 30, 1916.

Dear Sir,

I am to-day in receipt by mail of a report from the Record Office of the First Newfoundland Regiment, London, conveying the information that the death of your son, No. 1744, Private John Lambert, which occurred at Ayr on the 7th April, and of which it has already been my painful duty to inform you, was caused by an attack of malignant scarlet fever.

Yours faithfully,

Colonial Secretary.
