

A large set of reindeer antlers is the central focus, resting on a light-colored rock in a forest. The antlers are dark and have a complex, branching structure. The background is a dense forest of trees with green foliage, slightly out of focus. The overall image has a soft, slightly faded appearance.

Rendell, Herbert, Regt. No. O-93

Mentioned in Despatches

London Gazette, 28th December 1917

Mentioned in Sir Douglas Haig's Despatch of 7th November 1917

Military Cross

London Gazette, 16/2/18 and 18/2/18

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty near Marcoing on 30th November 1917. He was in command of a strong point which was heavily shelled. When his trench was entirely blown in he withdrew his survivors to a neighbouring trench. When the shelling ceased he led a bombing party, drove the enemy out and re-established the position. By his initiative and determination he saved a vital position.