November 8, 1917.

Dear Sir,

It is with very deep regret that I have to intimate to you that a report has now been received from the Newfoundland Pay and Record Office, London, to the effect that those men of the First Newfoundland Regiment who were reported missing on April 14, 1917, are now believed to have been killed in that fateful action.

I fully realize all that this means to you. Your gallant son George, one of the bravest and most fearless in the Regiment, had already laid down his life in defence of the Empire, yet your two sons, Richard and Frederick, did not falter, but came forward with quiet determination to carry on the work which their heroic brother had not been able to complete.

While our hearts mourn the loss of our bravest and our best, yet one cannot but feel proud that we have families that are able to produce such noble men, and that the quiet of years of peace has not stifled the sense of honour, the spirit of manhood or devotion to country which inspired our ancestors. You as a father, and Newfoundland as a Colony, may well feel proud of the three splendid heroes who unselfishly gave their lives in this fight of the oppressed against the oppressor.

In your great sorrow I desire to express to you and to your family, on behalf of the Government as well as for myself personally, the most sincere sympathy

Let me assure you that the hearts of the whole community go out to you and yours at this your time of sorrow.

I am able to sympathize with you all the more deeply, and join with you in your sorrow the more intimately, because a number of those nearest and dearest to my own life have given their all on the fields of France and Flanders.

May He who is the Lord of the whole earth, as well as the Great Father of us all, give to you at this time of your bereavement His comfort and His peace.

Sincerely yours,

Colonial Secretary.
